Manufacturers' Statement Regarding Differences With the Brotherhood.

SCALE A BONE OF CONTENTION

Claim Made That Uniformity Does Exist in the East And That the Western Association is the Proper One to Deal With the Issue.

The publication in the News Review yesterday of the Brotherhood's position in the existing controversy between the manufacturing potters and the operatives has drawn out a statement to the public from Secretary W. E. Wells, of the Western Manufacturers' association. A copy of the statement was submitted by the News Review to the officials at Brotherhood headquarters. They stated that they had not time to prepare a statement today, but will be ready with one by Monday.

Secretary Wells says: "Manufacturers were originally strongly opposed to a national uniform scale, owing to radical differences in conditions east and west.

"They offered to formulate a uniform scale in the fall of 1899 for East Liverpool alone. This was declined by the Brotherhood, because they claimed to represent the workmen of the United States, and could treat only with manufacturers representing the entire country.

"Against their better judgment the manufacturers at the convention in January, 1900, agreed to enter into a national uniform scale as the price of peace.

"The committee of the Brotherhood reiterated emphatically that their action on the scale would absolutely bind workmen in every pottery in the country, aside from the Wick, and upon this condition only did our committee enter into negotiations. It is obviously unfair that a scale, based on average prices in all factories, should be enforced only in those plants where workmen desire it.

"We do not charge intentionally bad faith on the part of the officials of the Brotherhood in failure to enforce in Trenton, as we believe they were confident of their power to do so, but the effect was the same as bad faith, and was an unquestionable violation of the agreement; working great hardship to East Liverpool and the west. We submit that had the situation been reversed and had a part of the potters repudiated the action of their committee, workmen would have instantly rebelled and would have been justified in doing so.

"We maintain that by failure to make good their contract, they forfeit the right to treat with the national association.

"That the Brotherhood has no right to expect recognition from the manufacturers in those factories where the authority of the Brotherhood is not recognized by the workmen.

"That the Brotherhood is recognized by workmen only in those plants where the uniform scale is now applied.

"That the proper body of manufacturers to treat with the N. B. of O. P. is one representing those factories where the scale has been adopted.

"That the Western Manufacturing Potters' Association is such a body, and that the Brotherhood has erred in addressing its grievances to the United States Potters' Association and in declining to address the Western Manufacturing Potters' Association.

"That any agreement, they should now make with the National association would be one-sided, binding only on the manufacturers and not the men, and it is unreasonable to expect manufacturers to entertain such a proposition.

"That the manufacturers have been disappointed in the expectation that peace would result from the adoption of the scale. Claims and demands since filed with the arbitration committee have been innumerable, much more than before the adoption of the scale, and all from the men, manufacturers never having filed a single demand.

"That our members of committee have thrown up their hands in despair, and have just resigned in a body.

"That manufacturers, to a man, are bitterly disappointed in the operation of the uniform scale and would be more than pleased with any action that would result in its abolition.

"The manufacturers have no desire to enter into a newspaper controversy over the subject at issue, but authorize the foregoing complete statement of their position, in the belief that the public should be correctly informed, and will rest their case with this."

The manufacturers submit the correspondence which has taken place between their association and the National Brotherhood from the beginning of the controversy. The first is from the Brotherhood under date of July 20, 1900, and asked for a conference between committees from the two organizations, looking to a change in the personnel of the "standing committee" to contain three members, one permanent member and two to be added from the branch of the trade affected. It also asked that the dish-tom of charging pressers and dish-makers for clay be discontinued and requested that the apprentices be regulated.

The fourth clause asked for one-fourth cent for sanding and setting plates, while the fifth requested one-half cent extra and one-quarter cent additional when stamped in clay.

They asked the appointment of a committee to meet a like committee in order to deal with these and other questions.

In reply, under date of July 24, 1900, the secretary of the Western Manufacturers' association forwards to the Brotherhood the copy of a resolution which sets forth that according to the Pittsburg agreement the disputes were to be adjusted in a certain manner by a certain committee, and they absolutely refuse to arbitrate any question in a manner other than that agreed upon by the Pittsburg conference. The letter continues by saying that the manufacturers maintain their original position that the two committees who met at Pittsburg were authorized to act for the respective organizations, and no other arrangement would be considered. The communication concludes with the statement that the requests were equivalent to a demand for an increase in wages, and therefore would be refused.

On November 30, 1900, the Brotherhood, through Secretary Duffy, sent a communication to the U. S. Potters' Association, containing a request similar to that just quoted, and which is the same as was published in the News Review yesterday.

In their reply through Secretary H. A. Keffer, of the U. S. association, the manufacturers take the stand that, as the Brotherhood had failed to enforce the uniform scale in districts in the east and thereby violated the agreement made at the time of the adoption of the uniform scale, it was a matter that did not concern the National association.

February 23, the Brotherhood addressed another communication to the United States association, calling attention to the previous requests made by them. It stated that the workmen were becoming discontented, and urged that the manufacturers take some action that would result in a conference being held to discuss the various questions. This communication is addressed to Col. John N. Taylor, president of the executive committee of the U. S. association, and is signed by both the National Brotherhood officials.

Col. Taylor, under date of Feb. 25, replied that he had no authority, in his official capacity to call a committee together for the consideration of questions involving wages. Mr. Taylor stated that his association had taken action in regard to the matter in December, and had decided that owing to the fact that the Brotherhood had failed to enforce the uniform scale as agreed upon in joint convention, the question had become purely a local one. He said the U. S. association in-

MAN WAS KILLED AT MRS. SMITH'S

Part of Pittsburg Tragedy Enacted at an East Liverpool Woman's Home.

HER STATEMENT TO OFFICERS

Was Not Aware of the Character of Her Tenants Who Appeared to Be Gentlemen — Complains of the Treatment Accorded Her.

The horrible tragedy which occurred in Pittsburg yesterday will be found fully reported in another column. It appears from an account which appears in the Dispatch that the house at 32 Fulton street, where Detective P. E. Fitzgerald was murdered by Ed Wright, the supposed burglar, was kept by Mrs. May Smith, formerly of this city. The Dispatch says:

"The account of the Wrights obtaining rooms at the Fulton street house is told by Mrs. May Smith, the landlady. She says she is a widow with two children, Myrtle, a daughter, and a son, who is able to do light work. She came here from East Liverpool, O., and was in high nervous tension because her family might form wrong impressions of her connection with the affair.

"Mrs. Smith's story is: 'Edward Wright rented the rooms. John Wright occupied the parlor on the first floor. The two said they were commercial travelers and sold for a wholesale commercial house. They paid regularly and were the nicest people I ever saw. I know nothing about the hours they kept, for I go to bed early. They were always quiet, and never drank anything but wine. They took the rooms about three weeks ago. I don't know the Wilcox couple, but a woman sometimes came here. The married Wrights did light house-keeping, but John Wright ate at some restaurant on Wylie avenue. Sometimes they ate with me.

"It was near 1 o'clock when the officers came. They walked into the sitting room and told me who they were. I told them of the roomers. Jack Wright then walked in from the kitchen and spoke for himself. They searched him. They would not allow Mrs. Ed Wright to go upstairs. I heard shooting, and the wife cried, 'Ed is shot!' A man they called 'Bob' came down and washed his hands, and told Mrs. Wright she could go up. I heard Ed Wright say that he did it in self-defense.

"Mrs. Smith said that two trunks and two satchels were removed by the police. She was highly indignant at the treatment of the room, and inquired as to whom she could make claim for damages. She repeatedly asked that her connection with the affair be stated as merely that of a woman imposed upon by roomers. Her description of the men as finely dressed and cultivated in conversation was borne out by their appearance before removal.

"Mrs. Smith is a woman of evident refinement, and her daughter has good manners. The mother is quite tall, with raven black ringlets and shows traces of beauty in earlier life.

"When Mrs. May Smith was seen for the second time last night she said that only the excitement was sustaining her and she expected a nervous collapse. She was asked if she had not a husband living in East Liverpool, Charles Smith by name, who is a letter carrier. Mrs. Smith admitted that she had. Then she added that her husband was in the house at that hour, having just arrived from East Liverpool. A request to see him brought the answer that he knew nothing of the affair of the afternoon and it was useless to disturb him.

"Mrs. Smith said she came to Pittsburg last October and that her husband would soon locate here. She denied that she had ever had any trouble with Mr. Smith."

Mrs. May Smith, as is stated, is the wife of Charles Smith, an East Liverpool letter carrier. They did not live happily and are alleged to have separated several times. She filed a suit for divorce, but it never came to trial. While in East Liverpool she conducted an alleged immoral resort on Walnut street for a year or more.

Fell Fainting And Expired in a Few Minutes—He Was a Well Known Citizen And Had Been in Business Here Seven Years.

Frank Sears, a contractor of this city, dropped dead at 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon while at work on West Market street.

Sears was a member of the firm of Sears & Hinton, who move buildings. They were engaged in moving a building from Diamond alley to Drury lane, had succeeded in turning the building into the lane and were engaged in working around the building when Mr. Sears said to a number of spectators that he had been struck on the chest by a plank and for someone to catch him, as he was going to faint. He fell into the arms of Fred Headley, who laid him down on the sidewalk and he died in about five minutes after he was laid down.

He was picked up and taken to the undertaking rooms of Burns & McQuilken and a physician was summoned who stated that death was caused by a stroke of apoplexy. Sears came here seven years ago from Cleveland and is well known in the city. He was aged 48 years and is survived by a wife and brother, both of whom are residents of East Liverpool.

When seen yesterday afternoon his brother, Jesse Sears, stated that he had been in the best of health during the day and that he had never been seriously ill during his life.

None of the men employed by Mr. Sears knew of him being struck by a plank.

The former home of Mr. Sears was at Macedonia, near Cleveland, and his body will be taken there for burial on Monday morning. The funeral services, conducted by Rev. C. G. Jordan, will take place at his late residence, 181 Bradshaw avenue, tomorrow at 4:30 p. m.

HILLSIDE ABLAZE.

A Brush Fire Results in Several Acres of Ground Being Burned Over.

About noon yesterday some one set fire to some brush on the hillside above the East End school house. The hillside here is very steep and is covered with a dense growth of underbrush. A strong breeze was blowing and the result was that the whole hillside was in a blaze in a very short time.

Several acres of land were traversed by the fire, but as no residences or other valuable property were in danger no attempt was made to extinguish the blaze. It apparently died out late in the afternoon, but again started up about 8 o'clock last night and burned for two hours. It was watched by a large number of people, but no great damage was done.

STALLED IN THE MUD.

Rig With a Woman Driver Meets With a Mishap.

A lady from the country, who was driving a not very fat horse, met with trouble yesterday when she struck one of the roads in Calhoun addition. The horse waded into a mud hole until the mud came up to the axles when it concluded to stall. The lady tried to persuade it to move on by the use of the whip, and the horse concluded to lie down, breaking the shafts out as it did so. It happened that a number of workmen were on their way home to dinner at the time, among whom was a teamster who hitched his team to the rear end of the buggy and pulled it out backward.

The horse was got out with much difficulty and after considerable patching the woman was enabled to proceed on her way homeward.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT.

Suit Over a Wagon Decided By Justice McLane.

The case of William Hormell against the Bagley company was heard in Justice McLane's court at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The case was brought to recover a wagon which the Bagley company had taken from Hormell's stable to their premises without his consent. The testimony in the case developed that the Bagley company had secured Hormell's note for the value of the wagon when Hormell purchased it at Alex. Trotter's sale. Shortly before the time for the note to become due, Odell Tarr, the representative of the Bagley company, met Mr. Hormell in the East End and reminded him that the note was soon due. Mr. Hormell is said to have replied that he had been out of work and consequently would be unable to pay the note on the date of maturity.

Mr. Tarr told him that they could use the wagon, and Mr. Horwell told him to come and get it. The Bagley company did not do so at once, but paid the note and some time later went after the wagon. Hormell was not present, but the wagon was in the stable and the door locked. Hormell had told them he no longer owned the wagon, so they broke the lock and took the vehicle with them.

The justice decided that, inasmuch as the Bagley company had paid the note for the wagon and had taken it at Hormell's verbal agreement, they were the rightful owners of it, and the verdict was given in favor of the defendant. The breaking of the lock had no bearing on this action.

EAST END.

HILLSIDE ABLAZE.

A Brush Fire Results in Several Acres of Ground Being Burned Over.

About noon yesterday some one set fire to some brush on the hillside above the East End school house. The hillside here is very steep and is covered with a dense growth of underbrush. A strong breeze was blowing and the result was that the whole hillside was in a blaze in a very short time.

Several acres of land were traversed by the fire, but as no residences or other valuable property were in danger no attempt was made to extinguish the blaze. It apparently died out late in the afternoon, but again started up about 8 o'clock last night and burned for two hours. It was watched by a large number of people, but no great damage was done.

STALLED IN THE MUD.

Rig With a Woman Driver Meets With a Mishap.

A lady from the country, who was driving a not very fat horse, met with trouble yesterday when she struck one of the roads in Calhoun addition. The horse waded into a mud hole until the mud came up to the axles when it concluded to stall. The lady tried to persuade it to move on by the use of the whip, and the horse concluded to lie down, breaking the shafts out as it did so. It happened that a number of workmen were on their way home to dinner at the time, among whom was a teamster who hitched his team to the rear end of the buggy and pulled it out backward.

The horse was got out with much difficulty and after considerable patching the woman was enabled to proceed on her way homeward.

DESPERADOS' DEEDS

A Robber Murdered a Pittsburgh Grocer Who Was Protecting His Wife.

DETECTIVE'S MURDER FOLLOWED

Gave Two Other Officers Terrible Struggles and Was Badly Wounded. Two Other Men and Women Are Under Arrest.

Pittsburg, April 13.—Two murders and the running to earth of a gang of five desperate burglars, one of whom was perhaps fatally shot, occurred in this city. The dead:

Thomas D. Kahney, of 13 Albert street, Mt. Washington, whose place was attacked by burglars, and who was killed while protecting his wife.

Patrick E. Fitzgerald, member of the Pittsburgh bureau of detectives, who has long been known for his faithfulness and for remarkable physical strength and courage. He was shot in the heart by Edward Wright, whom he was trying to arrest as a suspect, charged with burglary and the murder of Kahney.

Fatally Shot.

Edward Wright, burglar, suspected of the murder of Kahney; wounded in the arm, leg and head by bullets fired by Police Inspector Robert Gray.

The cold-blooded murder of Kahney resulted in Superintendent of Detectives Roger O'Mara ordering the immediate apprehension of a gang concerning whose suspicious character he had been apprised the preceding day. While at first there was nothing definite to connect this gang with the Kahney burglary and robbery, later arrests and the desperate resistance of its members led to the conclusion that they were the ones responsible for these crimes, as well as for many robberies and burglaries during the past few months.

The gang captured included two men in addition to the one shot by Inspector Gray, and two women who remained at the houses, where they rented rooms and presumably kept watch over stolen goods and kept a lookout for signs of trouble, so that the gang could be ready to leave the town and avoid arrest. The names and descriptions of the party of suspects, so far as descriptions were obtained, are as follows:

Edward Wright, the man shot. 25 years old, agent.

Jessie Wright, his reputed wife, aged 22 years, servant.

J. D. Wright, brother of Edward, 28 years old, barber.

Robert Wilcox, 20 years old, musician.

Jennie Wright, his wife, aged 22 years, servant.

Kahney's Murder the Climax.

The killing of Kahney was the climax of a long series of robberies of the most daring character in this city and some suburban towns. By a curious coincidence of dates information of the presence of a band of suspicious men and women in the city was conveyed to Roger O'Mara, superintendent of detectives, the day before it occurred. Yesterday morning he ordered those suspected investigated, and if they were not able to give a satisfactory account of themselves that they be taken to Central station.

The man from his own force sent to do this work was Detective Fitzgerald. With him to assist in the investigation went Police Inspector Robert Gray and County Detective Robert G. Robinson. The information furnished the police gave the numbers of two houses in the hill district, where the parties it was thought might be robbers were lodging. These numbers were 1714 Bedford avenue and 32 Fulton street. The Bedford avenue house was the first visited. The house is owned and occupied by Thomas Boyd, an almost lifelong citizen of the vicinity, and the neighborhood is a highly respectable one.

They were met at the door by Mrs. Boyd, of whom they asked if she had roomers of the name of Wilcox. Upon her replying in the affirmative they pushed on upstairs without making explanations, and made an unceremonious entrance into Wilcox's room. Wilcox and his wife had apparently not been out of bed very long. They were taken completely by surprise, and when seized by the officers submitted to arrest without a struggle.

Woman Tried to Hide Plunder.

After they were secured, however, the woman was detected in an attempt to throw away a package of something which upon investigation proved to contain valuable jewelry and diamonds. The room the couple had occupied was searched and in it were found quite an assortment of burglars' tools, dynamite and chloroform, while three revolvers were secreted in the bed which they had occupied. All this stuff was taken possession of by the officers, who then started with their prisoners to No. 2 police station, only a short distance away on Center avenue. On arrival there the man and woman were locked in cells far removed from each other and their belongings were cared for by the desk sergeant.

The party of officers then proceeded to the house in Fulton street, taking with them Officer William H. West, a negro, whom they found in citizens' clothes at the station house. On nearing the Fulton street house Inspector Gray instructed Officer

West to remain on the outside ready to cover with his revolver anyone who might appear at a window.

The other three officers knocked at the door and were answered by Mrs. Anna Smith, mistress of the place. They pushed on past her into the house, and at the door which opens into the hall from the dining room they encountered John D. Wright, one of the men wanted. Detective Robinson asked him his name, and upon being told answered: "Well, we want you. You are under arrest."

Robinson took charge of the man and Inspector Gray and Detective Fitzgerald pushed on upstairs. They soon ascertained that the couple were in the front room of the house, however, as upon trying the door they found it locked, and the voice of a woman was heard from within, inquiring, "What do you want here?"

The detective rather gruffly told her to open the door, that they wanted to enter, and after a second she complied. As they afterward learned, while the door was locked Edward Wright, the man they were after, had opened a window and looked into the street below. It is probable he would have jumped for the street, but that he looked into the muzzle of a revolver of large calibre pointed at him by the colored policeman standing below. When the door of the room in which a double tragedy was shortly to be enacted was opened they found Edward Wright sitting upon the window sill, while his wife was standing near the center of the room.

Wright Commenced to Shoot.

"We want you," said Detective Fitzgerald to Wright, and started at him. Instantly the man whipped out a revolver and commenced to shoot. Before he had fired more than once or twice, however, the detective had got hold of him and taken the revolver away from him. Before they could clinch tightly with him, however, he had another weapon out and was blazing away with it.

Detective Fitzgerald was clinched with the burglar and suspected murderer, who was trying to shoot him, and Inspector Gray had a hard time in getting a chance to fire without running risks of shooting his comrade.

Suddenly he heard Fitzgerald say, "I'm done for, I'm shot, Bob," and he relaxed his hold upon the man he was fighting and fell at the foot of the bed.

Gray ceased firing for a minute and lifted the prostrate form of Fitzgerald to one side. Then he clinched with his antagonist and threw him over Fitzgerald's body, firing at him as he fell to the floor from the force of the push with which Gray put him from him. A second afterward he screamed that he was all in.

While the fight was going on in the upstairs room Detective Robinson had been having a lively time downstairs. When West ran upstairs he took his prisoner out into the street and turned him over to Thomas Scott and several citizens, telling them to hold him. Then he started for the upstairs room. He had no more than re-entered the house when he heard some one from the street cry out: "Look out, he's getting away." He turned back and found Wright struggling all over the sidewalk with Scott. He soon subdued him.

Edward Wright was playing a clever game upstairs which now developed. He was playing possum. He was scarcely hurt and had quit on Inspector Gray, hoping to find some means of escape.

When Gray went downstairs after the woman he turned his head around to West, who was standing at his feet with gun in hand.

"What did you murder that man for?" the negro asked.

"I never murdered anybody," Wright said. "I want to die."

Just then Robinson was bringing his brother into the hallway from the street. John head Edward speak.

"Are you there, Ed?" he cried out.

"Yes," Edward answered.

"You're not dead then," John cried again.

West Had a Fierce Struggle.

Edward did not answer. Instead, he jumped to his feet and caught West's right hand, which held the revolver, before the officer could use it. West was taken by surprise. Like Gray, he thought the man was badly hurt. West held onto his revolver and a hard struggle followed. The two men fought toward the front room door and into the room. Both men exerted every energy to get the gun. They fought over toward Fitzgerald's body and when they came to it both men tripped and fell. West saw Wright reach under the dresser and pull another revolver out. He grabbed the hand with his left. Then the fight was renewed. Each man had a revolver in his right hand and the left hand of each clutched the right of the other. Wright slowly worked his right hand up and turned his revolver toward West's head in spite of the latter's efforts to restrain him. West butted Wright just as the latter's pistol was discharged. The bullet grazed the officer's cheek, the powder scorching his face. Finally Wright broke away. Gray came upstairs and shot at Wright just as West shot three times. Wright fell down, but held on to his revolver. Joseph Gildernew came to their assistance. Wright was finally knocked down and overcome.

Edward Wright was taken to the hospital and the other prisoners to the Central station.

A Robber Murdered a Pittsburg Grocer Who Was Protecting His Wife.

DETECTIVE'S MURDER FOLLOWED

Gave Two Other Officers Terrible Struggles and Was Badly Wounded. Two Other Men and Women Are Under Arrest.

Pittsburg, April 13.—Two murders and the running to earth of a gang of five desperate burglars, one of whom was perhaps fatally shot, occurred in this city. The dead: Thomas D. Kahney, of 13 Albert street, Mt. Washington, whose place was attacked by burglars, and who was killed while protecting his wife. Patrick E. Fitzgerald, member of the Pittsburg bureau of detectives, who has long been known for his faithfulness and for remarkable physical strength and courage. He was shot in the heart by Edward Wright, whom he was trying to arrest as a suspect, charged with burglary and the murder of Kahney.

Fatally Shot.

Edward Wright, burglar, suspected of the murder of Kahney; wounded in the arm, leg and head by bullets fired by Police Inspector Robert Gray.

The cold-blooded murder of Kahney resulted in Superintendent of Detectives Roger O'Mara ordering the immediate apprehension of a gang concerning whose suspicious character he had been apprised the preceding day. While at first there was nothing definite to connect this gang with the Kahney burglary and robbery, later arrests and the desperate resistance of its members led to the conclusion that they were the ones responsible for these crimes, as well as for many robberies and burglaries during the past few months.

The gang captured included two men in addition to the one shot by Inspector Gray, and two women who remained at the houses, where they rented rooms and presumably kept watch over stolen goods and kept a lookout for signs of trouble, so that the gang could be ready to leave the town and avoid arrest. The names and descriptions of the party of suspects, so far as descriptions were obtained, are as follows:

Edward Wright, the man shot, 25 years old, agent.

Jessie Wright, his reputed wife, aged 22 years, servant.

J. D. Wright, brother of Edward, 28 years old, barber.

Robert Wilcox, 20 years old, musician.

Jennie Wright, his wife, aged 22 years, servant.

Kahney's Murder the Climax.

The killing of Kahney was the climax of a long series of robberies of the most daring character in this city and some suburban towns. By a curious coincidence of dates information of the presence of a band of suspicious men and women in the city was conveyed to Roger O'Mara, superintendent of detectives, the day before it occurred. Yesterday morning he ordered those suspected investigated, and if they were not able to give a satisfactory account of themselves that they be taken to Central station.

The man from his own force sent to do this work was Detective Fitzgerald. With him to assist in the investigation went Police Inspector Robert Gray and County Detective Robert G. Robinson. The information furnished the police gave the numbers of two houses in the hill district, where the parties it was thought might be robbers were lodging. These numbers were 1714 Bedford avenue and 32 Fulton street. The Bedford avenue house was the first visited. The house is owned and occupied by Thomas Boyd, an almost lifelong citizen of the vicinity, and the neighborhood is a highly respectable one.

They were met at the door by Mrs. Boyd, of whom they asked if she had roomers of the name of Wilcox. Upon her replying in the affirmative they pushed on upstairs without making explanations, and made an unceremonious entrance into Wilcox's room. Wilcox and his wife had apparently not been out of bed very long. They were taken completely by surprise, and when seized by the officers submitted to arrest without a struggle.

Woman Tried to Hide Plunder.

After they were secured, however, the woman was detected in an attempt to throw away a package of something which upon investigation proved to contain valuable jewelry and diamonds. The room the couple had occupied was searched and in it were found quite an assortment of burglars' tools, dynamite and chloroform, while three revolvers were secreted in the bed which they had occupied. All this stuff was taken possession of by the officers, who then started with their prisoners to No. 2 police station, only a short distance away on Center avenue. On arrival there the man and woman were locked in cells far removed from each other and their belongings were cared for by the desk sergeant.

The party of officers then proceeded to the house in Fulton street, taking with them Officer William H. West, a negro, whom they found in citizens' clothes at the station house. On nearing the Fulton street house Inspector Gray instructed Officer

West to remain on the outside ready to cover with his revolver anyone who might appear at a window.

The other three officers knocked at the door and were answered by Mrs. Anna Smith, mistress of the place. They pushed on past her into the house, and at the door which opens into the hall from the dining room they encountered John D. Wright, one of the men wanted. Detective Robinson asked him his name, and upon being told answered: "Well, we want you. You are under arrest."

They soon ascertained that the couple were in the front room of the house, however, as upon trying the door they found it locked, and the voice of a woman was heard from within, inquiring, "What do you want here?"

CLEANING UP THE CITY.

Spring cleaning on the part of the city has been in progress for several days and a great improvement is clearly noticeable. Many individuals are doing their part and the winter's accumulations of filth and rubbish are being removed from alleys and lots which they encumber. On the other hand, there are some who have as yet manifested no disposition to comply with the recently issued order of Street Commissioner Bryan. The period set in his notice for the completion of the cleaning expires Thursday, April 18. Some may have overlooked this fact. As they are in danger of being prosecuted and fined if they do not comply with the terms of the city ordinance on the subject, which the street commissioner has announced his intention of strictly enforcing, it can do no harm to remind all citizens that the time is short in which to do the necessary and important work.

It ought not to be necessary to invoke the aid of the law to make any citizen do his duty in this matter; all ought to be willing and eager to do their part in making the city neat, clean and in perfect sanitary condition and in keeping it so. But those who cannot be coaxed must be driven, and if it becomes necessary to invoke the law, it should be impartially enforced. The "disgracefully dirty condition" of many of the streets and alleys to which the mayor called attention in his message is one which should not be suffered to continue. It invites epidemics that are likely to prove ten times more costly than the work of thorough cleaning would be. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, in this, as in most matters affecting the public health.

ON ANOTHER RAILROAD LINE.

East Liverpool is now on another railroad line, built by the Minerva correspondent of the Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph. Here is the new road, as he sees it:

"The purchase of a controlling interest in the Wabash by the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad will now in all probability change the complexion of railroad matters in eastern Ohio. The fact that the Goulds have seen best to get control of the Wheeling shows that they desire to get into Pittsburg. To do this they will have to build a short line from their branch terminal at this place through East Liverpool to Pittsburg along the survey made years ago for the Pittsburg & Chicago railroad.

"This would give a much shorter line to Chicago than any now leaving Pittsburg, and in all probability would compel the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania to build shorter lines from Warlick to Pittsburg, a course which they have surveyed several times and which would cut off 29 miles and save several heavy grades."

The kindness of our friends in the county and neighborhood in constructing railway lines for this city is extraordinary. To express our thanks in words for each new trunk line would keep us too busy, therefore we give notice once for all that we are duly appreciative. And some day some of the numerous predictions will come true, and, in the inelegant but expressive phraseology of a great editor,

"We may be happy yet, you bet."

John Bull is not likely to shut out the supply of American beef. He seldom quarrels with his victuals when they are good. And it is a well known fact that Texas steers and other products of western ranches have long furnished what has passed for the "roast beef of old England."

Morgan says the stock of the big steel corporation has all been placed and there is none left for Europe. As Tom Reed truly said, this is a billion dollar country.

Tree-planting time is at hand. No property owner should neglect to observe an arbor day or two. It will pay.

Patrick Fitzgerald was one of Pittsburg's best officers. He died a hero's death, met in the line of duty.

Friday was certainly an unlucky day in Pittsburg.

THE EVANGELIST'S WORK.

Kaylor Meetings at the First U. P. Church Close Tomorrow.

The evangelistic services which have been in progress at the First U. P. church for the past four weeks, will close with the services tomorrow evening. There will be no meeting tonight, the last week-day service being held last evening. It was very successful. Evangelist Kaylor will have charge of all the services tomorrow, preaching both morning and evening. Reception of new members at the morning service.

While the public is cordially invited to all these meetings, the young people are especially invited to be at the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6:30 p. m., which will be in charge of the evangelist. There will be special music by the choir tomorrow. Mr. Kaylor will commence a series of meetings in the Second U. P. church, East End, on Monday evening, April 15.

STOLE A SEALSKIN.

Crooks Get in Their Work at Bridgeport.

Bridgeport, April 13.—Jones, Davis and Frohman are the names given by the three men taken to the county jail at St. Clairsville by Bridgeville officers for attempting to short-change a merchant at Pasco. Yesterday it was discovered they had shipped a package to Allegheny from Barton. The package was held up here and was found to contain a seal sack stolen from Miss Emma Yahrling, of Wheeling, at Blue Ribbon hall, Benwood, last Monday night. The sack was valued at $100.

The package was allowed to go on its destination to Allegheny and the officers there have promised to look up the people to whom it was consigned. The name and address of the consignee are withheld by the local police.

The Village Postmaster.

Take a cupful of "Old Homestead," ditto of "Blue Jeans," stir all together and you have the batter for "The Village Postmaster," but the cake that comes from it has a flavor all its own. If all reports be true, it is pleasant and palatable. The play had a run of 227 nights at the Fourteenth Street Theater, New York. It will be seen at the Grand April 17, and there is every reason to believe that it will give the theater-goers as much satisfaction as it did those who attended the performances in New York and the other big cities. The original scenic production is carried with the company. Mr. Archie Boyd will play the part of Seth Huggins, the postmaster, in the production here.

Miners' Strike Settled.

Salem, O., April 13.—The strike of the Cherry Valley, Salem and Grafton Coal company's miners, which has been on for the past two weeks for an increase in tonnage, was settled yesterday. Nearly 1,000 men returned to work today.

Three Men Arrested After One Had Tried to Escape by Jumping Through a Window.

The disgraceful assault on Geo. W. Wood, the atomizer man, at the Taylor, Lee & Smith pottery by some of the clay hands several days ago, reached a culmination in court this morning.

Dick Cochran, August Sewickley and Martin Lucas pleaded guilty to a charge of assault before Justice Johnson. Cochran paid for his fun at the rate of $15 and costs; Sewickley's part in the play cost him $16 and costs, while Martin Lucas' share was valued at $17 and costs. They all managed to pay up after considerable trouble and were released.

They insisted upon the justice promising to not give any information to the reporters, and it was impossible to learn anything from him. The correct information, as given above, was obtained from another source, and the young men's efforts to keep the affair from the public were unsuccessful.

Constable Allison made an attempt to arrest Cochran at the pottery yesterday, but he escaped through a window, it is said, and the constable caught him on a street car this morning. Lucas and Sewickley were arrested at the pottery.

THE VILLAGE POSTMASTER HERE NEXT WEEK.

Archie Boyd Is in the Title Role—A Play That Has Been a Great Success.

Under the title of "The Village Postmaster" there will come to the Grand Opera House in this city on Wednesday evening, April 17, one of the brightest and most wholesome rural comedies that local theatre-goers have had presented to them. The play, it is said, furnishes a series of realistic stage pictures that a noted writer in the east once said was "quite as refreshing as a vacation in the country." While fun is a very strong factor in "The Village Postmaster," it is by no means the only ingredient of importance in the composition of the play which breathes of sweet hay and apple blossoms. There is a wholesomeness about the piece that is appetizing, an exhibition of rugged sterling honesty that existed in New Hampshire forty years ago, that is both refreshing and invigorating.

It is a simple drama of rural life, that has been delighting thousands of theatre-goers in the east for two years past. The play originally ran at the Fourteenth street theatre, New York, for 227 nights, and has recently completed its third big engagement at that popular play house. It appeals with particular force to that class of theatre-goers who admire the realistic school of the drama and who delight in such absorbingly interesting pictures of farm life in New England as are afforded in the "Old Homestead" and "Shore Acres," of which "The Village Postmaster" is a type. It was the general verdict of theatre patrons in the east that they had never seen a truer, more wholesome, more picturesque play of New England rural life than "The Village Postmaster."

This city is promised the production exactly as it was seen in New York, including the same powerful cast, led by Mr. Archie Boyd, who plays the title role, Seth Huggins, the Postmaster. Mr. Boyd will be remembered from his long connection with Denman Thompson's part in the "Old Homestead" and Uncle Nat in "Shore Acres." The part of Miranda, the postmaster's daughter, will be played by Miss Angela Russell, who was most successful in New York in the creation of this delightfully sweet character.

The play is in four acts, the first of which opens in the country store and postoffice in a small New Hampshire town on the morning of training day, a time familiar to those of the elder generation, as the annual holiday in New England when every law abiding citizen was compelled to appear for drill in the manual of arms. When the village band appeared, incidentally political wire pulling was indulged in and the young people of the village indulged in general jollification. The act closes with a rain storm of real water which causes the merry makers to seek shelter.

The second act shows the home of a Baptist minister and the donation party, when the members of the village church choir render old fashioned melodies and various gifts are presented to the minister. The third act shows a farm yard with an old fashioned thrashing machine at work. The last act is a capital setting, showing the interior of an old New England church where the villagers are busy putting up decorations in honor of the approaching wedding of the postmaster's daughter. One of the most interesting features of "The Village Postmaster" is the fidelity shown in the resuscitation of costumes and ways of half a century ago, which indicates the period of the play very clearly, as well as amusingly, and the same attention to detail is shown to the scenery and settings.

The management of the Grand are particularly fortunate in having secured this excellent attraction and there is no doubt but that it will be given a cordial reception.

cluded all the factories in the country, and from the fact that the uniform scale was operative only in the west, the, as a body, could not legislate under such conditions, for the east.

He referred them to the Western association, and if he had been rightly informed, they would have full power to act in the matter of the scale of prices adopted at the Pittsburg conference.

The next correspondence was conducted on April 2, when Secretary Duffy forwarded the circular printed in these columns yesterday, calling attention to the fact that this was the third time that practically the same requests had been made.

This letter was addressed, as all previous ones had been, to H. A. Keffer, secretary of the U. S. association. This letter was referred to Charles Howell Cook, and he wrote Mr. Keffer, reiterating what had already been said by Colonel Taylor with reference to the uniform scale being inoperative in the east, and therefore not a question that could be considered by his association.

This communication was forwarded the Brotherhood headquarters, together with one from W. E. Wells, secretary of the Western Manufacturers' association, which reads as follows:

East Liverpool, O., Apr. 11, 1901. National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, T. J. Duffy, Secretary, East Liverpool, Ohio.

Dear Sir:—The enclosed letter from Charles Howell Cook, replying to yours of April 2, 1901, addressed to H. A. Keffer, secretary of U. S. Potters' association, was referred to this association as a matter of information, and in order that this body, representing every pottery in which the uniform scale has been applied, might, if it choose, extend to you the courtesy of a conference, which the National association, for the reasons stated, is unable to grant.

BEEF ORDER WAS PUZZLING.

Secretary Hay Ordered an Inquiry in London.

Washington, April 13.—Secretary Hay cabled to Ambassador Choate an inquiry into the reason for the order of the British war office, which excludes the American refrigerated beef heretofore used. This action is taken at the instance of the department of agriculture.

Secretary Wilson said that everything the administration can do in the matter is being done. "But I cannot understand," he said, "why the British government has taken this step. They know that our grained beef is the kind that is shipped to them. There must be some reason that is not apparent on the surface. We sell them a million dollars' worth of meats for every million of their population. Suppose they have a quarter million troops in the field. It can make little difference to our producers whether they take enough from the home-grown supply to feed the soldiers, for if they do that they must import just that much more to supply the deficiency. The British do not produce enough in Great Britain to supply their home demand. There must be some other reason."

BEEF ORDER WAS PUZZLING.

Secretary Hay Ordered an Inquiry in London.

Washington, April 13.—Secretary Hay cabled to Ambassador Choate an inquiry into the reason for the order of the British war office, which excludes the American refrigerated beef heretofore used. This action is taken at the instance of the department of agriculture.

Secretary Wilson said that everything the administration can do in the matter is being done. "But I cannot understand," he said, "why the British government has taken this step. They know that our grained beef is the kind that is shipped to them. There must be some reason that is not apparent on the surface. We sell them a million dollars' worth of meats for every million of their population. Suppose they have a quarter million troops in the field. It can make little difference to our producers whether they take enough from the home-grown supply to feed the soldiers, for if they do that they must import just that much more to supply the deficiency. The British do not produce enough in Great Britain to supply their home demand. There must be some other reason."

Available Spruce Land and Water Power Asserted to Be False—Price of Newspaper Increased.Washington, April 13.—The manufacture of news print paper of the country was the subject of inquiry on the part of the industrial commission, Mr. John Norris, business manager of the New York Times, being the witness. Mr. Norris devoted his attention especially to the International Paper company. "I will assert," he said "that the International Paper company has failed in every expectation it held out to the newspapers and to the public. The cost of manufacture is greater under consolidation than under individual ownership of the paper mills. The economies which were to be obtained under the consolidated management have not been realized. The export trade has fallen off, or at least has not been increased, though that was to be the strong feature of the consolidated companies' effort. The promised policy of an enlightened self-interest has been abandoned and the net result to newspaper publishers has been an increase of over $4,800,000 per annum in the cost of news print paper."He placed the output of news print paper at $26,000,000 per year.Mr. Norris said the president of the consolidation is paid $50,000 a year and manufacturers' salaries were increased from $7,500 to $15,000. There also had been a vast addition to the spruce lands owned by the company, the area secured in the United States bringing the aggregate up to 1,600 square miles, while 2,000 square miles of this land are controlled in Canada.
There had likewise been an increase in freight charges. All told, he placed the enhancement of the cost price of producing paper at $3 per ton. He knew of two newspapers which were paying an increase of $150,000 each annually on the paper used by them.
Mr. Norris gave the daily output of news print paper at 2,955 tons, of which the International company furnished 1,200 tons, while the mills of the company have a capacity of 1,576 tons per day, and said there is a constant increase of producing capacity outside that company, notwithstanding the boast of the International company that it owned all paper water powers and all available spruce lands.Mr. Norris attributed the recent increase in the price of paper to four causes, namely, to the Spanish-American war, the South African war, the drouth of 1899 and 1900, and the attempt of the International company to monopolize the spruce land. To meet the last difficulty he suggested that trade relations with Canada should be promoted, in order that the practically inexhaustible pulp supply of that country might be drawn up. "We should," he said,
"adopt the plan which President Mc-Kinley has advocated, of remitting those taxes which experience has shown to be most burdensome to the industries of the people." He asserted that the International company had opposed Canadian reciprocity and that the result had been Canadian reprisals. He advocated the removal of the tariff on wood pulp as in the interest of all classes.Cheap and Reliable Insurance."Some years ago when troubled with a bad cold I was advised by a promiso, I can say it is the best cough medicine I ever used," says M. S. West, of West Burlington, N. Y. "We have

PLEA OF CATHOLICS

Their Position on Education In the United States Stated In an Address.

OPPOSED TO STATE CONTROL

Claim This Tends Wholly Toward Secularization—Stand Unalterably For a Christianized System—High Schools Urged.

Chicago, April 13.—A declaration of the Catholic position on education in the United States was adopted at the closing session of the national conference of the Association of Catholic Colleges. The resolution comprising the declaration received the unanimous assent of the representatives of 70 different colleges—practically the entire collegiate system of the Catholic church in America. The declaration adopted was as follows:

First—That this Association of Catholic Colleges request its president, Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, respectfully to call the attention of the bishops of the United States, at their annual meeting, to the work of this conference in regard to our collegiate conditions, and especially to the importance of the high school movement.

Second—That the tendency of educational legislation forces us to warn our Catholic people of the systematic and well-defined effort in certain quarters toward absolute state control in education, thereby threatening and crippling all private educational effort, thus depriving a large class of the citizens of the liberty of maintaining schools in which their religion shall be made an essential element.

Third—That we remind legislators of the rights of conscience guaranteed to us by our American citizenship and call their attention to the system of schools which our people have maintained at great expense and sacrifice.

Fourth—That we protest against the unfair and unjust discriminations resulting from much of the educational legislation, and we appeal to the fair-mindedness and sense of justice of the American people to protect us from such illiberality.

Fifth—That this conference of Catholic colleges convinces us that we are justified in asserting that our college system deserves the generous cooperation of all interested in higher Catholic education; and we pledge ourselves to use every effort to perfect still more our collegiate conditions.

Sixth—That we call upon all Catholics to recognize the imperative need of a more perfect organization of our educational system, and we assure them that with a fuller development of the Catholic high school we shall have a complete system, with its headship in the university, and thus we shall continue to maintain a high collegiate standard.

Words of cheer from across the sea were received in a cablegram of congratulation from Pope Leo XIII, dated Rome, April 12, 1901.

The cablegram was in answer to a message which the convention sent to the pope when it convened.

The following officers were chosen to serve during the ensuing year: President, Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, D. D., rector of the Catholic university, Washington; secretary and treasurer, Rev. John Conway, S. J., Gonzaga college, Washington, D. C. Members of the standing committee—Augustinians, Rev. Lawrence A. Delurey, Villanova college, Villanova, Pa.; Benedictines, Rev. Sixto Lopez Explains the Affair In Philadelphia.

Boston, April 13.—Senor Sixto Lopez, the Filipino who lives here as a representative of the so-called Filipino government, made public the correspondence he has had with William J. Bryan in reference to the statement that he (Lopez) acted with discourtesy towards Mr. Bryan at the public meeting in Philadelphia on March 12. Senor Lopez in his letter says he was honored by Mr. Bryan's presence at the meeting. The note that was handed to Senor Lopez on the platform, "and of which the press has made so much," he says, was a welcome from a Masonic lodge.

Mr. Bryan, under date of April 6, said that he regretted inability to meet Senor Lopez. He assures Senor Lopez that the report to which he referred—the alleged act of discourtesy—gave him no concern, as "I am accustomed to have the opposition papers misconstrue everything with which I am connected." In closing Mr. Bryan says: "I was disappointed that our people did not last fall realize the dangers of imperialism, and feel sure that they will sooner or later return to American principles."

RESOLUTION

DECLARING IT NECESSARY TO improve Bradshaw avenue from Avondale street to Ambrose avenue.

Resolved, by the council of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, that it is necessary (the property owners having petitioned for the same and waived their rights to all exemptions as allowed by law in cases of assessments) and the intention is hereby declared to improve Bradshaw avenue from Avondale street to Ambrose avenue. The proposed improvement will consist of:

First—Constructing the necessary storm water sewers; part of the said sewers shall be of brick and part of terra cotta pipes, as council shall decide what is for best interest of all concerned.

Second—The street shall be graded to the grade established by ordinance.

Third—The curb shall be set and the roadway shall be paved with bricks set on edge.

The materials used in the improvement must be the best of its kind—the pipes used must be of the best quality that can be obtained; the bricks used for the sewer and the bricks used for paving must be the best quality made for the different purposes; the stone curbing must be of the best sandstone. The work must be done in accordance with the plans and specifications on file in the office of the city engineer and under his supervision.

The cost and expense of the said improvement, except two (2) per cent of the entire cost, and cost of intersections will be assessed per foot front on the lots and lands abutting and bounding on said avenue between Avondale street and Ambrose avenue. The said assessments will be collected in ten (10) annual installments, if deferred, and the same collected as provided by law and in the assessing ordinance hereafter to be passed. Bonds will be issued in anticipation of the collection of the said assessments unless the property owners pay their assessments before the bonds are issued and within the time prescribed in the assessing ordinance, and the city clerk is hereby instructed to have this resolution published in compliance with the law, and the city marshal is hereby authorized and instructed to serve notice of the passage of this resolution on the proper persons and make return as required by law.

NEW UNITED STATES MINT, PHILADELPHIA.

It is expected that the new United States mint building at Philadelphia will be completed early in the spring, possibly by the 1st of May. It is a handsome and substantial structure. The mint is plain in style, being built of gray granite from Mount Desert. The most elaborate work on the building will be at the Spring Garden street doors, where beautiful carvings are being put in place. The numismatic room of the new mint is to be the handsomest room in the building. Its decorations will be on the most magnificent scale, and the greatest care will be used in its construction. Many rare and beautiful marbles will be employed, and carvings and bas-reliefs will adorn the walls. The granite used in the new mint building is extremely hard, making the work of the carvers difficult. The grain is coarse and tough, rendering it difficult to get the smoothness necessary for every piece used in the building. The carvers have been at work on the building for more than a year.

A MOTHER'S SEARCH.

HUNTED LONG FOR HER SON ONLY TO FIND HIM DEAD.

He Was Adopted When a Babe By a Salem Couple And Died Six Years Ago.

Salem, April 13.—A pathetic story has just come to light here. Twenty-six years ago Mrs. Anna McGregor, now of Binghamton, N. Y., lived in Cleveland. Her husband died in 1876, leaving her destitute with an infant son. She placed the child in an orphan asylum and it was afterward placed with the family by the superintendent. She lost trace of the boy and spent years in searching for him.

A short time ago she learned through the Cleveland Humane society that Charles R. Probert, of Salem, had been given charge of the boy, Charles. The mother wrote to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Probert a long and touching letter, telling of her anxious search and begging for tidings of her son. Mr. Probert was compelled to give her sad news in reply. The young man, who was promising and industrious, died about six years ago. Mrs. McGregor is reported prostrated by the news at her home in Binghamton and may not recover.

FORAKER ON PORTO RICO.

More Prosperous Than For Years. Admits Suffering Exists.

Washington, April 13.—Senator Foraker, of Ohio, chairman of the committee which deals with Porto Rican affairs, was in Washington, and discussed conditions in Porto Rico from information received by him. He has many letters from the island, and has been in constant correspondence and communication with prominent men of Porto Rico, and said that his information is contrary to that presented by the delegations, which recently have visited the United States.

Senator Foraker further said in part: "The island is in a more prosperous condition than it has been for years and has a better outlook than it has had in 200 years. There is no part of the world where taxes are as light as they are in Porto Rico. The men who are here asking for relief are those who advocated a 25 per cent tariff, instead of 15 per cent, which is the present law, and wanted the entire tax removed from land. It is this land tax that is worrying those of the people who are making complaints, yet this tax is very light. The only possible objection is to that provision of the law which compels taxes to be paid within six months under pain of forfeiture of the land. It is not likely that any land ever will be forfeited under this law. Governor Allen already has signified his willingness to call the legislature together and so modify or repeal this particular provision. It is true that there are a large number of people in Porto Rico who always have been poverty-stricken, and still are."

Senator Foraker expects to visit Porto Rico just before the reassembling of congress, and will make as thorough an investigation for his own information, of conditions, as his limited time will afford.

TRADE IS BETTER

Pig Iron Production Near Record Figures, According to Dun's Review. Some Oother Features.

New York, April 13.—U. S. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

The tone of general business was better this week. Marked activity in the distribution of merchandise is reflected in the gains of 45.9 per cent in bank clearings at New York, compared with 1890, and 20.8 per cent over 1899, with gains of 13.5 and 10.8 for the same periods at leading cities outside New York. Even the textile markets show pronounced gain. Activity in the metals division has taken pig iron production to near record figures, and some dealers don't see how production of partly finished forms this year is to be made to meet the demand. The government report of the condition of wheat on April 1 is the surest possible basis upon which expectation of continued commercial prosperity could be founded. Stringency of money is largely local in New York, and does not alter reports from most of the larger cities of favorable conditions in collections. Railroad earnings in March were 7.4 per cent larger than last year, and 32.4 per cent over 1899, according to practically complete returns.

Speculation has been unusually heavy in foodstuffs, the local market averaging over 2,000,000 bushels of wheat daily. Prices receded sharply from the top point of two years ago, wheat losing about 4 cents for spot. Realizing sales were accelerated by expectation of a high percentage of winter wheat condition in the official report. Two elements of strength appeared to check the decline and caused some recovery; insects were reported numerous in the southwestern section, and foreign buying was sufficient to make Atlantic exports, flour included, 6,732,090 bushels in two weeks, against 3,912,857 last year, and 3,890,380 in 1899. Corn received better support, by manipulation and lighter interior receipts. The large increase in hog packing at the west, as compared with last year's figures, probably accounts for the first sign of pronounced weakness in pork products.

Textile fabrics are in better position, although improvement is slight and confirmed to a special lines. At eastern wool markets manufacturers have taken sufficient new material of late to indicate better orders for goods, and news from the west suggest that ranch owners are going to hold for better prices than now prevail. In the cotton goods division there has been more buying for China, while spring drygoods openings make encouraging exhibits.

Failures for the week numbered 203 in the United States, against 193 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 41 last year.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE DISPUTE

Manufacturers' Statement Regarding Differences With the Brotherhood.

SCALE A BONE OF CONTENTION

Claim Made That Uniformity Does Exist in the East And That the Western Association is the Proper One to Deal With the Issue.

The publication in the News Review yesterday of the Brotherhood's position in the existing controversy between the manufacturing potters and the operatives has drawn out a statement to the public from Secretary W. E. Wells, of the Western Manufacturers' association. A copy of the statement was submitted by the News Review to the officials at Brotherhood headquarters. They stated that they had not time to prepare a statement today, but will be ready with one by Monday.

Secretary Wells says: "Manufacturers were originally strongly opposed to a national uniform scale, owing to radical differences in conditions east and west.

"They offered to formulate a uniform scale in the fall of 1899 for East Liverpool alone. This was declined by the Brotherhood, because they claimed to represent the workmen of the United States, and could treat only with manufacturers representing the entire country.

"Against their better judgment the manufacturers at the convention in January, 1900, agreed to enter into a national uniform scale as the price of peace.

"The committee of the Brotherhood reiterated emphatically that their action on the scale would absolutely bind workmen in every pottery in the country, aside from the Wick, and upon this condition only did our committee enter into negotiations. It is obviously unfair that a scale, based on average prices in all factories, should be enforced only in those plants where workmen desire it.

"We do not charge intentionally bad faith on the part of the officials of the Brotherhood in failure to enforce in Trenton, as we believe they were confident of their power to do so, but the effect was the same as bad faith, and was an unquestionable violation of the agreement; working great hardship to East Liverpool and the west. We submit that had the situation been reversed and had a part of the potters repudiated the action of their committee, workmen would have instantly rebelled and would have been justified in doing so.

"We maintain that by failure to make good their contract, they forfeit the right to treat with the national association.

"That the Brotherhood has no right to expect recognition from the manufacturers in those factories where the authority of the Brotherhood is not recognized by the workmen.

"That the Brotherhood is recognized by workmen only in those plants where the uniform scale is now applied.

"That the proper body of manufacturers to treat with the N. B. of O. P. is one representing those factories where the scale has been adopted.

"That the Western Manufacturing Potters' Association is such a body, and that the Brotherhood has erred in addressing its grievances to the United States Potters' Association and in declining to address the Western Manufacturing Potters' Association.

"That any agreement, they should now make with the National association would be one-sided, binding only on the manufacturers and not the men, and it is unreasonable to expect manufacturers to entertain such a proposition.

"That the manufacturers have been disappointed in the expectation that peace would result from the adoption of the scale. Claims and demands since filed with the arbitration committee have been innumerable, much more than before the adoption of the scale, and all from the men, manufacturers never having filed a single demand.

"That our members of committee have thrown up their hands in despair, and have just resigned in a body.

"That manufacturers, to a man, are bitterly disappointed in the operation of the uniform scale and would be more than pleased with any action that would result in its abolition.

"The manufacturers have no desire to enter into a newspaper controversy over the subject at issue, but authorize the foregoing complete statement of their position, in the belief that the public should be correctly informed, and will rest their case with this."

The manufacturers submit the correspondence which has taken place between their association and the National Brotherhood from the beginning of the controversy. The first is from the Brotherhood under date of July 20, 1900, and asked for a conference between committees from the two organizations, looking to a change in the personnel of the "standing committee" to contain three members, one permanent member and two to be added from the branch of the trade affected. It also asked that the dish-tom of charging pressers and dish-makers for clay be discontinued and requested that the apprentices be regulated.

The fourth clause asked for one-fourth cent for sanding and setting plates, while the fifth requested one-half cent extra and one-quarter cent additional when stamped in clay.

They asked the appointment of a committee to meet a like committee in order to deal with these and other questions.

In reply, under date of July 24, 1900, the secretary of the Western Manufacturers' association forwards to the Brotherhood the copy of a resolution which sets forth that according to the Pittsburgh agreement the disputes were to be adjusted in a certain manner by a certain committee, and they absolutely refuse to arbitrate any question in a manner other than that agreed upon by the Pittsburgh conference. The letter continues by saying that the manufacturers maintain their original position that the two committees who met at Pittsburgh were authorized to act for the respective organizations, and no other arrangement would be considered. The communication concludes with the statement that the requests were equivalent to a demand for an increase in wages, and therefore would be refused.

On November 30, 1900, the Brotherhood, through Secretary Duffy, sent a communication to the U. S. Potters' Association, containing a request similar to that just quoted, and which is the same as was published in the News Review yesterday.

In their reply through Secretary H. A. Keffer, of the U. S. association, the manufacturers take the stand that, as the Brotherhood had failed to enforce the uniform scale in districts in the east and thereby violated the agreement made at the time of the adoption of the uniform scale, it was a matter that did not concern the National association.

February 23, the Brotherhood addressed another communication to the United States association, calling attention to the previous requests made by them. It stated that the workmen were becoming discontented, and urged that the manufacturers take some action that would result in a conference being held to discuss the various questions. This communication is addressed to Col. John N. Taylor, president of the executive committee of the U. S. association, and is signed by both the National Brotherhood officials.

Col. Taylor, under date of Feb. 25, replied that he had no authority, in his official capacity to call a committee together for the consideration of questions involving wages. Mr. Taylor stated that his association had taken action in regard to the matter in December, and had decided that owing to the fact that the Brotherhood had failed to enforce the uniform scale as agreed upon in joint convention, the question had become purely a local one. He said the U. S. association in-

MAN WAS KILLED AT MRS. SMITH'S

Part of Pittsburgh Tragedy Enacted at an East Liverpool Woman's Home.

HER STATEMENT TO OFFICERS

Was Not Aware of the Character of Her Tenants Who Appeared to Be Gentlemen — Complaints of the Treatment Accorded Her.

The horrible tragedy which occurred in Pittsburgh yesterday will be found fully reported in another column. It appears from an account which appears in the Dispatch that the house at 32 Fulton street, where Detective P. E. Fitzgerald was murdered by Ed Wright, the supposed burglar, was kept by Mrs. May Smith, formerly of this city. The Dispatch says:

"The account of the Wrights obtaining rooms at the Fulton street house is told by Mrs. May Smith, the landlady. She says she is a widow with two children, Myrtle, a daughter, and a son, who is able to do light work. She came here from East Liverpool, O., and was in high nervous tension because her family might form wrong impressions of her connection with the affair.

"Mrs. Smith's story is: Edward Wright rented the rooms. John Wright occupied the parlor on the first floor. The two said they were commercial travelers and sold for a wholesale commercial house. They paid regularly and were the nicest people I ever saw. I know nothing about the hours they kept, for I go to bed early. They were always quiet, and never drank anything but wine. They took the rooms about three weeks ago. I don't know the Wilcox couple, but a woman sometimes came here. The married Wrights did light house-keeping, but John Wright ate at some restaurant on Wylie avenue. Sometimes they ate with me.

"It was near 1 o'clock when the officers came. They walked into the sitting room and told me who they were. I told them of the roomers. Jack Wright then walked in from the kitchen and spoke for himself. They searched him. They would not allow Mrs. Ed Wright to go upstairs. I heard shooting, and the wife cried, 'Ed is shot!' A man they called 'Bob' came down and washed his hands, and told Mrs. Wright she could go up. I heard Ed Wright say that he did it in self-defense.

"Mrs. Smith said that two trunks and two satchels were removed by the police. She was highly indignant at the treatment of the room, and inquired as to whom she could make claim for damages. She repeatedly asked that her connection with the affair be stated as merely that of a woman imposed upon by roomers. Her description of the men as finely dressed and cultivated in conversation was borne out by their appearance before removal.

"Mrs. Smith is a woman of evident refinement, and her daughter has good manners. The mother is quite tall, with raven black ringlets and shows traces of beauty in earlier life.

"When Mrs. May Smith was seen for the second time last night she said that only the excitement was sustaining her and she expected a nervous collapse. She was asked if she had not a husband living in East Liverpool, Charles Smith by name, who is a letter carrier. Mrs. Smith admitted that she had. Then she added that her husband was in the house at that hour, having just arrived from East Liverpool. A request to see him brought the answer that he knew nothing of the affair of the afternoon and it was useless to disturb him.

"Mrs. Smith said she came to Pittsburgh last October and that her husband would soon locate here. She denied that she had ever had any trouble with Mr. Smith."

Mrs. May Smith, as is stated, is the wife of Charles Smith, an East Liverpool letter carrier. They did not live happily and are alleged to have separated several times. She filed a suit for divorce, but it never came to trial. While in East Liverpool she conducted an alleged immoral resort on Walnut street for a year or more.

THIRTY DAYS EACH.

SENTENCE OF THE PITTSBURG BOY THIEVES.

A Charge of Fraud in a Salineville Probate Case—Alleged Horse Thief Held.

Lisbon, April 13. — (Special.) — Young Connelly, Hackett and McConoughy, of Pittsburgh, who were jailed here several days ago, were taken into Judge Boone's court last evening. The two first mentioned were charged with larceny and the third with receiving stolen goods. All were sentenced to 30 days in the Stark county workhouse and to a fine of $10 and costs. Harry McGill, of East Liverpool, charged with stealing the horse of Norman Bricker, was taken before Mayor Farrell last evening. He pleaded not guilty and was held for the grand jury.

Sheriff Noragon will leave on Monday morning for Columbus, with Jesse McGregor, who will probably spend the rest of his life in the penitentiary for the murder of Lizzie Ewing at Wellsville.

Monroe A. Allmon, an heir of the late Mary A. Allmon, of Salineville, in probate court this morning, made serious charges against Emmet M. Allmon. He made affidavit that he has good reasons to suspect that the accused and his wife have carried away money, goods, chattels and effects belonging to the estate of the deceased, in fraud of his rights. Judge Boone issued a citation commanding the accused to appear in court on Tuesday next at 10 a. m. to be examined for alleged concealment and embezzlement.

The village of Leetonia decided last fall to open and extend Main street by appropriating property belonging to Chloe S. McKeefrey. The land sought to be appropriated is 60x30 feet. The court has set the hearing for April 23, when a jury will probably be drawn to assess the compensation.

The will in the estate of the late James Bowers, of Fairfield township, was filed for probate today and April 19 set for a hearing.

Common pleas court has now adjourned until Tuesday at 1 p. m. Next week will be the final week of the term.

In the damage case of Andrew House, administrator, against the Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal company a bill of exceptions was filed by the plaintiff and allowed. The case is now in the circuit court. It was on trial during the present term of court and was taken from the jury.

The case of Joseph Coulson, executor, against Raelia Whitacre et al was dismissed.

The case of W. C. Supplee against the village of Lisbon was heard on a motion to make the petition more definite. This was overruled.

STARKEY IS SUED.

ZANESVILLE BELLE WANTS $25,000 FROM HIM.

Lisbon, April 13.—(Special.)—Jas. L. Starkey, who assisted in straightening out the affairs of ex-Treasurer John R. Martin in this county, has been sued in Muskingum county for $25,000 for breach of promise of marriage by a Miss Roberts, to whom he has been twice engaged.

Starkey is now auditor of Muskingum county and is said to be worth $50,000. The plaintiff is a Zanesville society belle.

DROPPED DEAD WHILE AT WORK

The Grim Reaper's Sudden Summons to Contractor Frank Sears.

SAID A BOARD HAD HIT HIM

Fell Fainting And Expired in a Few Minutes—He Was a Well Known Citizen And Had Been In Business Here Seven Years.

Frank Sears, a contractor of this city, dropped dead at 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon while at work on West Market street.

Sears was a member of the firm of Sears & Hinton, who move buildings. They were engaged in moving a building from Diamond alley to Drury lane, had succeeded in turning the building into the lane and were engaged in working around the building when Mr. Sears said to a number of spectators that he had been struck on the chest by a plank and for someone to catch him, as he was going to faint. He fell into the arms of Fred Headley, who laid him down on the sidewalk and he died in about five minutes after he was laid down.

He was picked up and taken to the undertaking rooms of Burns & McQuilken and a physician was moned who stated that death was caused by a stroke of apoplexy. Sears came here seven years ago from Cleveland and is well known in the city. He was aged 48 years and is survived by a wife and brother, both of whom are residents of East Liverpool.

When seen yesterday afternoon his brother, Jesse Sears, stated that he had been in the best of health during the day and that he had never been seriously ill during his life.

None of the men employed by Mr. Sears knew of him being struck by a plank.

The former home of Mr. Sears was at Macedonia, near Cleveland, and his body will be taken there for burial on Monday morning. The funeral services, conducted by Rev. C. G. Jordan, will take place at his late residence, 181 Bradshaw avenue, tomorrow at 4:30 p. m.

CHARGES WITHDRAWN.

The charges against Saloonists Geon, Bowers, Guthrie, Walsh and Thompson for violating the screen ordinance have been withdrawn.

There was a misunderstanding which led up to the information before there was an explanation. The in-mayor and those accused got together ing made, and yesterday when the formation against David Devine, however, still stands, and he will be given a hearing this evening.

Officers Davidson and Aufderheide arrested Paul Kruger on Second street last night and he was taken to jail in the patrol. Kruger was in a maudlin state of intoxication and did not know what he was doing. He asked Chief Thompson this morning how it happened, but was not enlightened.

Mayor Davidson fined him $5 and costs and the amount will be paid to-night.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mrs. John Nisson the Recipient of Pleasant Surprise.

A large number of friends surprised Mrs. John Nisson at her home at Pleasant Heights last night and helped that lady to remember that it was the fiftieth anniversary of her birth. The evening was delightfully spent in music, dancing and games, and at 12 o'clock a sumptuous repast was served.

The lady was the recipient of many useful and valuable presents, and those present enjoyed themselves until an early hour this morning.

EAST END.

HILLSIDE ABLAZE.

A Brush Fire Results in Several Acres of Ground Being Burned Over.

About noon yesterday some one set fire to some brush on the hillside above the East End school house. The hillside here is very steep and is covered with a dense growth of underbrush. A strong breeze was blowing and the result was that the whole hillside was in a blaze in a very short time.

Several acres of land were traversed by the fire, but as no residences or other valuable property were in danger no attempt was made to extinguish the blaze. It apparently died out late in the afternoon, but again started up about 8 o'clock last night and burned for two hours. It was watched by a large number of people, but no great damage was done.

STALLED IN THE MUD.

Rig With a Woman Driver Meets With a Mishap.

A lady from the country, who was driving a not very fat horse, met with trouble yesterday when she struck one of the roads in Calhoun addition. The horse waded into a mud hole until the mud came up to the axles when it concluded to stall. The lady tried to persuade it to move on by the use of the whip, and the horse concluded to lie down, breaking the shafts out as it did so. It happened that a number of workmen were on their way home to dinner at the time, among whom was a teamster who hitched his team to the rear end of the buggy and pulled it out backward.

The horse was got out with much difficulty and after considerable patching the woman was enabled to proceed on her way homeward.

Ready for Fishing Again.

Jack Wintergill has returned from the soldiers' home at Dayton and has taken up his abode at the usual place on the river bank on the West Virginia side. He looks as strong as he did 20 years ago, and no doubt fishing will be as good as ever this year. Jack says the people in the East End are very inhuman, as he hunted all day yesterday for a place to stay all night, but couldn't find it and finally had to sleep at his old place among the sewer pipe.

EAST END BREVITIES.

The Moore Engraving company has moved its office to Smith's Ferry.

Miss Jennie Hunter, who has been ill for several days, is again able to be out.

Rev. G. W. Orcutt has returned from a short visit to cities along the coast of Lake Erie.

The East End pottery shipped 20 baskets of ware by express to Allegheny this morning.

A Dixonville lady aired a family quarrel in Justice Carman's court yesterday with the result that a suit probably followed this afternoon.

The force of Italian workmen, who have been employed at grading the streets in the Smith addition for several weeks, completed their work today. They will leave the city soon.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT.

Suit Over a Wagon Decided By Justice McLane.

The case of William Hormell against the Bagley company was heard in Justice McLane's court at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The case was brought to recover a wagon which the Bagley company had taken from Hormell's stable to their premises without his consent. The testimony in the case developed that the Bagley company had secured Hormell's note for the value of the wagon when Hormell purchased it at Alex. Trotter's sale. Shortly before the time for the note to become due, Odell Tarr, the representative of the Bagley company, met Mr. Hormell in the East End and reminded him that the note was soon due. Mr. Hormell is said to have replied that he had been out of work and consequently would be unable to pay the note on the date of maturity.

Mr. Tarr told him that they could use the wagon, and Mr. Hormell told him to come and get it. The Bagley company did not do so at once, but paid the note and some time later went after the wagon. Hormell was not present, but the wagon was in the stable and the door locked. Hormell had told them he no longer owned the wagon, so they broke the lock and took the vehicle with them.

The justice decided that, inasmuch as the Bagley company had paid the note for the wagon and had taken it at Hormell's verbal agreement, they were the rightful owners of it, and the verdict was given in favor of the defendant. The breaking of the lock had no bearing on this action.

DESPERADOS' DEEDS

A Robber Murdered a Pittsburg Grocer Who Was Protecting His Wife.

DETECTIVE'S MURDER FOLLOWED

Gave Two Other Officers Terrible Struggles and Was Badly Wounded. Two Other Men and Women Are Under Arrest.

Pittsburg, April 13.—Two murders and the running to earth of a gang of five desperate burglars, one of whom was perhaps fatally shot, occurred in this city. The dead:

Thomas D. Kahney, of 13 Albert street, Mt. Washington, whose place was attacked by burglars, and who was killed while protecting his wife.

Patrick E. Fitzgerald, member of the Pittsburg bureau of detectives, who has long been known for his faithfulness and for remarkable physical strength and courage. He was shot in the heart by Edward Wright, whom he was trying to arrest as a suspect, charged with burglary and the murder of Kahney.

Fatally Shot.

Edward Wright, burglar, suspected of the murder of Kahney; wounded in the arm, leg and head by bullets fired by Police Inspector Robert Gray.

The cold-blooded murder of Kahney resulted in Superintendent of Detectives Roger O'Mara ordering the immediate apprehension of a gang concerning whose suspicious character he had been apprised the preceding day. While at first there was nothing definite to connect this gang with the Kahney burglary and robbery, later arrests and the desperate resistance of its members led to the conclusion that they were the ones responsible for these crimes, as well as for many robberies and burglaries during the past few months.

The gang captured included two men in addition to the one shot by Inspector Gray, and two women who remained at the houses, where they rented rooms and presumably kept watch over stolen goods and kept a lookout for signs of trouble, so that the gang could be ready to leave the town and avoid arrest. The names and descriptions of the party of suspects, so far as descriptions were obtained, are as follows:

Edward Wright, the man shot, 25 years old, agent.

Jessie Wright, his reputed wife, aged 22 years, servant.

J. D. Wright, brother of Edward, 28 years old, barber.

Robert Wilcox, 20 years old, musician.

Jennie Wright, his wife, aged 22 years, servant.

Kahney's Murder the Climax.

The killing of Kahney was the climax of a long series of robberies of the most daring character in this city and some suburban towns. By a curious coincidence of dates information of the presence of a band of suspicious men and women in the city was conveyed to Roger O'Mara, superintendent of detectives, the day before it occurred. Yesterday morning he ordered those suspected investigated, and if they were not able to give a satisfactory account of themselves that they be taken to Central station.

The man from his own force sent to do this work was Detective Fitzgerald. With him to assist in the investigation went Police Inspector Robert Gray and County Detective Robert G. Robinson. The information furnished the police gave the numbers of two houses in the hill district, where the parties it was thought might be robbers were lodging. These numbers were 1714 Bedford avenue and 32 Fulton street. The Bedford avenue house was the first visited. The house is owned and occupied by Thomas Boyd, an almost lifelong citizen of the vicinity, and the neighborhood is a highly respectable one.

They were met at the door by Mrs. Boyd, of whom they asked if she had roomers of the name of Wilcox. Upon her replying in the affirmative they pushed on upstairs without making explanations, and made an unceremonious entrance into Wilcox's room. Wilcox and his wife had apparently not been out of bed very long. They were taken completely by surprise, and when seized by the officers submitted to arrest without a struggle.

Woman Tried to Hide Plunder.

After they were secured, however, the woman was detected in an attempt to throw away a package of something which upon investigation proved to contain valuable jewelry and diamonds. The room the couple had occupied was searched and in it were found quite an assortment of burglars' tools, dynamite and chloroform, while three revolvers were secreted in the bed which they had occupied. All this stuff was taken possession of by the officers, who then started with their prisoners to No. 2 police station, only a short distance away on Center avenue. On arrival there the man and woman were locked in cells far removed from each other and their belongings were cared for by the desk sergeant.

The party of officers then proceeded to the house in Fulton street, taking with them Officer William H. West, a negro, whom they found in citizens' clothes at the station house.

On nearing the Fulton street house Inspector Gray instructed Officer

West to remain on the outside ready to cover with his revolver anyone who might appear at a window.

The other three officers knocked at the door and were answered by Mrs. Anna Smith, mistress of the place. They pushed on past her into the house, and at the door which opens into the hall from the dining room they encountered John D. Wright, one of the men wanted. Detective Robinson asked him his name, and upon being told answered: "Well, we want you. You are under arrest."

Robinson took charge of the man and Inspector Gray and Detective Fitzgerald pushed on upstairs. They soon ascertained that the couple were in the front room of the house, however, as upon trying the door they found it locked, and the voice of a woman was heard from within, inquiring, "What do you want here?"

The detective rather gruffly told her to open the door, that they wanted to enter, and after a second she complied. As they afterward learned, while the door was locked Edward Wright, the man they were after, had opened a window and looked into the street below. It is probable he would have jumped for the street, but that he looked into the muzzle of a revolver of large calibre pointed at him by the colored policeman standing below. When the door of the room in which a double tragedy was shortly to be enacted was opened they found Edward Wright sitting upon the window sill, while his wife was standing near the center of the room.

Wright Commenced to Shoot.

"We want you," said Detective Fitzgerald to Wright, and started at him. Instantly the man whipped out a revolver and commenced to shoot. Before he had fired more than once or twice, however, the detective had got hold of him and taken the revolver away from him. Before they could clinch tightly with him, however, he had another weapon out and was blazing away with it.

Detective Fitzgerald was eluded with the burglar and suspected murderer, who was trying to shoot him, and Inspector Gray had a hard time in getting a chance to fire without running risks of shooting his comrade.

Suddenly he heard Fitzgerald say, "I'm done for, I'm shot, Bob," and he relaxed his hold upon the man he was fighting and fell at the foot of the bed.

Gray ceased firing for a minute and lifted the prostrate form of Fitzgerald to one side. Then he clinched with his antagonist and threw him over Fitzgerald's body, firing at him as he fell to the floor from the force of the push with which Gray put him from him. A second afterward he screamed that he was all in.

While the fight was going on in the upstairs room Detective Robinson had been having a lively time downstairs. When West ran upstairs he took his prisoner out into the street and turned him over to Thomas Scott and several citizens, telling them to hold him. Then he started for the upstairs room. He had no more than re-entered the house when he heard some one from the street cry out: "Look out, he's getting away." He turned back and found Wright struggling all over the sidewalk with Scott. He soon subdued him.

Edward Wright was playing a clever game upstairs which now developed. He was playing possum. He was scarcely hurt and had quit on Inspector Gray, hoping to find some means of escape.

When Gray went downstairs after the woman he turned his head around to West, who was standing at his feet with gun in hand.

"What did you murder that man for?" the negro asked.

"I never murdered anybody," Wright said. "I want to die."

Just then Robinson was bringing his brother into the hallway from the street. John head Edward speak.

"Are you there, Ed?" he cried out.

"Yes," Edward answered.

"You're not dead then," John cried again.

West Had a Fierce Struggle.

Edward did not answer. Instead, he jumped to his feet and caught West's right hand, which held the revolver, before the officer could use it. West was taken by surprise. Like Gray, he thought the man was badly hurt. West held onto his revolver and a hard struggle followed. The two men fought toward the front room door and into the room. Both men exerted every energy to get the gun. They fought over toward Fitzgerald's body and when they came to it both men tripped and fell. West saw Wright reach under the dresser and pull another revolver out. He grabbed the hand with his left. Then the fight was renewed. Each man had a revolver in his right hand and the left hand of each clutched the right of the other. Wright slowly worked his right hand up and turned his revolver toward West's head in spite of the latter's efforts to restrain him. West butted Wright just as the latter's pistol was discharged. The bullet grazed the officer's cheek, the powder scorching his face. Finally Wright broke away. Gray came upstairs and shot at Wright just as West shot three times. Wright fell down, but held on to his revolver. Joseph Gildernew came to their assistance. Wright was finally knocked down and overcome.

Edward Wright was taken to the hospital and the other prisoners to the Central station.

The secretary will have some interesting things to tell the boys and hopes that their parents will send them along. He plans to form a boys' band and has some good times in prospect for the little fellows.

Affection

Exhales from children as fragrance from flowers. The little lips are always puckered to give or take a kiss. In homes where there are children, love reaches its fairest and sweetest proportions. In childless homes the kiss of wife and husband grows formal, and presently is neglected; the springs of love in the heart become choked for want of use and exercise. Childlessness is a great sorrow to many women. It is like a curse from Nature, who bids all creatures to be fruitful. It is not a curse but a misfortune. Often the conditions which cause childlessness are removable. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has brought joy to many a woman by giving her the happiness of motherhood. It gives to the womanly organs vigor and vitality, removes local obstructions, and practically does away with the pains and pangs of maternity.

There is no alcohol or narcotic in "Favorite Prescription."

"I have never written you how grateful I am to you for your help in securing good health and one of the sweetest, dearest, thirteen pound girls that ever came into a home," writes Mrs. M. Vastine, of 67 South Liberty St., Galesburg, Ill. "I took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, four of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of 'Pleasant Pellets.' Before I had taken four bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I was a new woman. I cannot make pen describe my heart-felt gratitude."

To keep the bowels regular use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Women Who Work

Nine out of ten women are afflicted with some of the common ailments known as female diseases. Among women whose employment requires them to stand on their feet or sit in the same position all day, not one in twenty-five escape these troubles. The average feminine constitution cannot, unaided, withstand the strain to which steady, trying work subjects them. The organs of womanhood are so delicate and finely adjusted that the inevitable result of constant standing, lifting, stooping or straining is displacement of vital parts. The disorder is usually slight at first, but soon develops into irregular or painful menstruation, leucorrhœa or falling of the womb. Wine of Cardui is the right remedy for female weakness. As such it is offered to you. Wine of Cardui will not perform miracles, but it will, if taken as directed, insure painless and regular operation of the menstrual function. It will drive out every trace of leucorrhœa, and will so strengthen the ligaments that falling of the womb will be an impossibility. Don't you think it would pay you to try a medicine with such a record as that? You can get a $1 bottle of Wine of Cardui at any drug store and use it in the privacy of your home.

WINE OF CARDUI

Townsend, Ga., May 18, 1899.

I have been in bad health with falling of the womb, weak back, nervousness and heart palpitation. At monthly periods I would be in bed suffering great pain. I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Draught, and they have brought me wonderful relief. I have no pain, and not stop work at the monthly period.

CLEANING UP THE CITY.

Spring cleaning on the part of the city has been in progress for several days and a great improvement is clearly noticeable. Many individuals are doing their part and the winter's accumulations of filth and rubbish are being removed from alleys and lots which they encumber. On the other hand, there are some who have as yet manifested no disposition to comply with the recently issued order of Street Commissioner Bryan. The period set in his notice for the completion of the cleaning expires Thursday, April 18. Some may have overlooked this fact. As they are in danger of being prosecuted and fined if they do not comply with the terms of the city ordinance on the subject, which the street commissioner has announced his intention of strictly enforcing, it can do no harm to remind all citizens that the time is short in which to do the necessary and important work.

It ought not to be necessary to invoke the aid of the law to make any citizen do his duty in this matter; all ought to be willing and eager to do their part in making the city neat, clean and in perfect sanitary condition and in keeping it so. But those who cannot be coaxed must be driven, and if it becomes necessary to invoke the law, it should be impartially enforced. The "disgracefully dirty condition" of many of the streets and alleys to which the mayor called attention in his message is one which should not be suffered to continue. It invites epidemics that are likely to prove ten times more costly than the work of thorough cleaning would be. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, in this, as in most matters affecting the public health.

ON ANOTHER RAILROAD LINE.

East Liverpool is now on another railroad line, built by the Minerva correspondent of the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph. Here is the new road, as he sees it:

"The purchase of a controlling interest in the Wabash by the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad will now in all probability change the complexion of railroad matters in eastern Ohio. The fact that the Goulds have seen best to get control of the Wheeling shows that they desire to get into Pittsburgh. To do this they will have to build a short line from their branch terminal at this place through East Liverpool to Pittsburgh along the survey made years ago for the Pittsburgh & Chicago railroad.

"This would give a much shorter line to Chicago than any now leaving Pittsburgh, and in all probability would compel the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania to build shorter lines from Warwick to Pittsburgh, a course which they have surveyed several times and which would cut off 29 miles and save several heavy grades."

The kindness of our friends in the county and neighborhood in constructing railway lines for this city is extraordinary. To express our thanks in words for each new trunk line would keep us too busy, therefore we give notice once for all that we are duly appreciative. And some day some of the numerous predictions will come true, and, in the inelegant but expressive phraseology of a great editor,

"We may be happy yet, you bet."

John Bull is not likely to shut out the supply of American beef. He seldom quarrels with his victuals when they are good. And it is a well known fact that Texas steers and other products of western ranches have long furnished what has passed for the "roast beef of old England."

Morgan says the stock of the big steel corporation has all been placed and there is none left for Europe. As Tom Reed truly said, this is a billion dollar country.

Tree-planting time is at hand. No property owner should neglect to observe an arbor day or two. It will pay.

Patrick Fitzgerald was one of Pittsburgh's best officers. He died a hero's death, met in the line of duty.

Friday was certainly an unlucky day in Pittsburgh.

THE EVANGELIST'S WORK.

Kaylor Meetings at the First U. P. Church Close Tomorrow.

The evangelistic services which have been in progress at the First U. P. church for the past four weeks, will close with the services tomorrow evening. There will be no meeting tonight, the last week-day service being held last evening. It was very successful. Evangelist Kaylor will have charge of all the services tomorrow, preaching both morning and evening. Reception of new members at the morning service.

While the public is cordially invited to all these meetings, the young people are especially invited to be at the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6:30 p. m., which will be in charge of the evangelist. There will be special music by the choir tomorrow. Mr. Kaylor will commence a series of meetings in the Second U. P. church, East End, on Monday evening, April 15.

STOLE A SEALSKIN.

Crooks Get in Their Work at Bridgeport.

Bridgeport, April 13.—Jones, Davis and Frohman are the names given by the three men taken to the county jail at St. Clairsville by Bridgeville officers for attempting to short-change a merchant at Pasco. Yesterday it was discovered they had shipped a package to Allegheny from Barton. The package was held up here and was found to contain a seal sack stolen from Miss Emma Yahrling, of Wheeling, at Blue Ribbon hall, Benwood, last Monday night. The sack was valued at $100.

The package was allowed to go on its destination to Allegheny and the officers there have promised to look up the people to whom it was consigned. The name and address of the consignee are withheld by the local police.

The Village Postmaster.

Take a cupful of "Old Homestead," ditto of "Blue Jeans," stir all together and you have the batter for "The Village Postmaster," but the cake that comes from it has a flavor all its own. If all reports be true, it is pleasant and palatable. The play had a run of 227 nights at the Fourteenth Street Theater, New York. It will be seen at the Grand April 17, and there is every reason to believe that it will give the theater-goers as much satisfaction as it did those who attended the performances in New York and the other big cities. The original scenic production is carried with the company. Mr. Archie Boyd will play the part of Seth Huggins, the postmaster, in the production here.

Miners' Strike Settled.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S WORST ENEMY.

Early in May the miller or moth fly begins to deposit eggs. As soon as they are hatched the moth worms begin feeding on the woollens and continue until they are full grown. They then spin themselves into cocoons and change, in them, to the miller or moth fly. This requires from six to eight weeks. To guard against moth, woollens should be packed away early in May or earlier if possible. Before putting away, sun, beat and brush thoroughly, then pack away with a liberal supply of moth balls or camphor. Woolen or furs so packed if free from eggs before putting away are practically moth proof. Price

ARRESTED AND FINED.

ASSAILANTS OF THE ATOMIZER MAN PLEAD GUILTY.

Three Men Arrested After One Had Tried to Escape by Jumping Through a Window.

The disgraceful assault on Geo. W. Wood, the atomizer man, at the Taylor, Lee & Smith pottery by some of the clay hands several days ago, reached a culmination in court this morning.

Dick Cochran, August Sewickley and Martin Lucas pleaded guilty to a charge of assault before Justice Johnson. Cochran paid for his fun at the rate of $15 and costs; Sewickley's part in the play cost him $16 and costs, while Martin Lucas' share was valued at $17 and costs. They all managed to pay up after considerable trouble and were released.

They insisted upon the justice promising to not give any information to the reporters, and it was impossible to learn anything from him. The correct information, as given above, was obtained from another source, and the young men's efforts to keep the affair from the public were unsuccessful.

Constable Allison made an attempt to arrest Cochran at the pottery yesterday, but he escaped through a window, it is said, and the constable caught him on a street car this morning. Lucas and Sewickley were arrested at the pottery.

LOTS OF FUN AHEAD.

THE VILLAGE POSTMASTER HERE NEXT WEEK.

Archie Boyd Is in the Title Role—A Play That Has Been a Great Success.

Under the title of "The Village Postmaster" there will come to the Grand Opera House in this city on Wednesday evening, April 17, one of the brightest and most wholesome rural comedies that local theatre-goers have had presented to them. The play, it is said, furnishes a series of realistic stage pictures that a noted writer in the east once said was "quite as refreshing as a vacation in the country." While fun is a very strong factor in "The Village Postmaster," it is by no means the only ingredient of importance in the composition of the play which breathes of sweet hay and apple blossoms. There is a wholesomeness about the piece that is appetizing, an exhibition of rugged sterling honesty that existed in New Hampshire forty years ago, that is both refreshing and invigorating.

It is a simple drama of rural life, that has been delighting thousands of theatre-goers in the east for two years past. The play originally ran at the Fourteenth street theatre, New York, for 227 nights, and has recently completed its third big engagement at that popular play house. It appeals with particular force to that class of theatre-goers who admire the realistic school of the drama and who delight in such absorbingly interesting pictures of farm life in New England as are afforded in the "Old Homestead" and "Shore Acres," of which "The Village Postmaster" is a type. It was the general verdict of theatre patrons in the east that they had never seen a truer, more wholesome, more picturesque play of New England rural life than "The Village Postmaster."

This city is promised the production exactly as it was seen in New York, including the same powerful cast, led by Mr. Archie Boyd, who plays the title role, Seth Huggins, the Postmaster. Mr. Boyd will be remembered from his long connection with Denman Thompson's part in the "Old Homestead" and Uncle Nat in "Shore Acres." The part of Miranda, the postmaster's daughter, will be played by Miss Angela Russell, who was most successful in New York in the creation of this delightfully sweet character.

The play is in four acts, the first of which opens in the country store and postoffice in a small New Hampshire town on the morning of training day, a time familiar to those of the elder generation, as the annual holiday in New England when every law abiding citizen was compelled to appear for drill in the manual of arms. When the village band appeared, incidentally political wire pulling was indulged in and the young people of the village indulged in general jollification. The act closes with a rain storm of real water which causes the merry makers to seek shelter.

The second act shows the home of a Baptist minister and the donation party, when the members of the village church choir render old fashioned melodies and various gifts are presented to the minister. The third act shows a farm yard with an old fashioned thrashing machine at work. The last act is a capital setting, showing the interior of an old New England church where the villagers are busy putting up decorations in honor of the approaching wedding of the postmaster's daughter. One of the most interesting features of "The Village Postmaster" is the fidelity shown in the resuscitation of costumes and ways of half a century ago, which indicates the period of the play very clearly, as well as amusingly, and the same attention to detail is shown to the scenery and settings.

The management of the Grand are particularly fortunate in having secured this excellent attraction and there is no doubt but that it will be given a cordial reception.

THE OTHER SIDE.

From First Page

cluded all the factories in the country, and from the fact that the uniform scale was operative only in the west, the, as a body, could not legislate under such conditions, for the east.

He referred them to the Western association, and if he had been rightly informed, they would have full power to act in the matter of the scale of prices adopted at the Pittsburg conference.

The next correspondence was conducted on April 2, when Secretary Duffy forwarded the circular printed in these columns yesterday, calling attention to the fact that this was the third time that practically the same requests had been made.

This letter was addressed, as all previous ones had been, to H. A. Keffer, secretary of the U. S. association. This letter was referred to Charles Howell Cook, and he wrote Mr. Keffer, reiterating what had already been said by Colonel Taylor with reference to the uniform scale being inoperative in the east, and therefore not a question that could be considered by his association.

This communication was forwarded the Brotherhood headquarters, together with one from W. E. Wells, secretary of the Western Manufacturers' association, which reads as follows:

East Liverpool, O., Apr. 11, 1901. National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, T. J. Duffy, Secretary, East Liverpool, Ohio.

Dear Sir:—The enclosed letter from Charles Howell Cook, replying to yours of April 2, 1901, addressed to H. A. Keffer, secretary of U. S. Potters' association, was referred to this association as a matter of information, and in order that this body, representing every pottery in which the uniform scale has been applied, might, if it choose, extend to you the courtesy of a conference, which the National association, for the reasons stated, is unable to grant.

The Western Manufacturing Potters' Association stands ready to discuss the subjects enumerated, in conference, at your pleasure; and upon receipt of your reply, stating that such action is desired, will appoint a committee empowered to act in the premises as the authorized representatives of this body.

Western Manufacturing Potters' Association.

W. E. WELLS, Secretary.

The following is a copy of the reply to the foregoing and was mailed to the Western Manufacturers' association today by Secretary Duffy:

"East Liverpool, O., April 13. "Western Manufacturing Potters' Association, Mr. W. E. Wells, Secretary, East Liverpool, O.

"Dear Sirs:—Your communication of the 11th inst., which was forwarded to be by Mr. H. A. Keffer, was duly received.

"In reply will say that we do not admit that the reasons set forth in Mr. Cook's letter are true. When viewing the "eastern situation" you must bear in mind that there were two parties to the agreement of the uniform list, and we can prove that the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters was the only party that took any active steps toward putting the uniform list in operation in the east.

"Regarding the communication from the Western Manufacturing Potters' Association, I will say that I will submit the same to our national executive board, which meets on April 15. Although I anticipate favorable action on your communication I will await the action of our national executive board, after which I will give you an authoritative reply according to the instructions of said board.

"Hoping that we may settle peacefully yet justly the questions at issue, we remain,

"Very respectfully yours,

"National Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

"Secretary."

BEEF ORDER WAS PUZZLING.

Secretary Hay Ordered an Inquiry in London.

Washington, April 13.—Secretary Hay cabled to Ambassador Choate an inquiry into the reason for the order of the British war office, which excludes the American refrigerated beef heretofore used. This action is taken at the instance of the department of agriculture.

Secretary Wilson said that everything the administration can do in the matter is being done. "But I cannot understand," he said, "why the British government has taken this step. They know that our grain-fed beef is the kind that is shipped to them. There must be some reason that is not apparent on the surface. We sell them a million dollars' worth of meats for every million of their population. Suppose they have a quarter million troops in the field. It can make little difference to our producers whether they take enough from the home-grown supply to feed the soldiers, for if they do that they must import just that much more to supply the deficiency. The British do not produce enough in Great Britain to supply their home demand. There must be some other reason."

NEWSPAPERS SUFFER

John Norris, of New York, Denounces the So-Called Combine of Manufacturers.

EXPECTATIONS HAVE FAILED

Their Boast That They Control All Available Spruce Land and Water Power Asserted to Be False—Price of Newspaper Increased.

Washington, April 13.—The manufacture of news print paper of the country was the subject of inquiry on the part of the industrial commission, Mr. John Norris, business manager of the New York Times, being the witness. Mr. Norris devoted his attention especially to the International Paper company. "I will assert," he said "that the International Paper company has failed in every expectation it held out to the newspapers and to the public. The cost of manufacture is greater under consolidation than under individual ownership of the paper mills. The economies which were to be obtained under the consolidated management have not been realized. The export trade has fallen off, or at least has not been increased, though that was to be the strong feature of the consolidated companies' effort. The promised policy of an enlightened self-interest has been abandoned and the net result to newspaper publishers has been an increase of over $4,500,000 per annum in the cost of news print paper."

He placed the output of news print paper at $26,000,000 per year. Mr. Norris said the president of the consolidation is paid $50,000 a year and manufacturers' salaries were increased from $7,500 to $15,000. There also had been a vast addition to the spruce lands owned by the company, the area secured in the United States bringing the aggregate up to 1,600 square miles, while 2,000 square miles of this land are controlled in Canada. There had likewise been an increase in freight charges. All told, he placed the enhancement of the cost price of producing paper at $3 per ton. He knew of two newspapers which were paying an increase of $150,000 each annually on the paper used by them. Mr. Norris gave the daily output of news print paper at 2,955 tons, of which the International company furnished 1,200 tons, while the mills of the company have a capacity of 1,576 tons per day, and said there is a constant increase of producing capacity outside that company, notwithstanding the boast of the International company that it owned all paper water powers and all available spruce lands.

Mr. Norris attributed the recent increase in the price of paper to four causes, namely, to the Spanish-American war, the South African war, the drought of 1899 and 1900, and the attempt of the International company to monopolize the spruce land. To meet the last difficulty he suggested that trade relations with Canada should be promoted, in order that the practically inexhaustible pulp supply of that country might be drawn up. "We should," he said, "adopt the plan which President McKinley has advocated, of remitting those taxes which experience has shown to be most burdensome to the industries of the people." He asserted that the International company had opposed Canadian reciprocity and that the result had been Canadian reprisals. He advocated the removal of the tariff on wood pulp as in the interest of all classes.

PLEA OF CATHOLICS

Their Position on Education In the United States Stated In an Address.

OPPOSED TO STATE CONTROL

Claim This Tends Wholly Toward Secularization—Stand Unalterably For a Christianized System—High Schools Urged.

Chicago, April 13.—A declaration of the Catholic position on education in the United States was adopted at the closing session of the national conference of the Association of Catholic Colleges. The resolution comprising the declaration received the unanimous assent of the representatives of 70 different colleges—practically the entire collegiate system of the Catholic church in America. The declaration adopted was as follows:

First—That this Association of Catholic Colleges request its president, Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, respectfully to call the attention of the bishops of the United States, at their annual meeting, to the work of this conference in regard to our collegiate conditions, and especially to the importance of the high school movement.

Second—That the tendency of educational legislation forces us to warn our Catholic people of the systematic and well-defined effort in certain quarters toward absolute state control in education, thereby threatening and crippling all private educational effort, thus depriving a large class of the citizens of the liberty of maintaining schools in which their religion shall be made an essential element.

Third—That we remind legislators of the rights of conscience guaranteed to us by our American citizenship and call their attention to the system of schools which our people have maintained at great expense and sacrifice.

Fourth—That we protest against the unfair and unjust discriminations resulting from much of the educational legislation, and we appeal to the fair-mindedness and sense of justice of the American people to protect us from such illiberality.

Fifth—That this conference of Catholic colleges convinces us that we are justified in asserting that our college system deserves the generous co-operation of all interested in higher Catholic education; and we pledge ourselves to use every effort to perfect still more our collegiate conditions.

Sixth—That we call upon all Catholics to recognize the imperative need of a more perfect organization of our educational system, and we assure them that with a fuller development of the Catholic high school we shall have a complete system, with its headship in the university, and thus we shall continue to maintain a high collegiate standard.

Words of cheer from across the sea were received in a cablegram of congratulation from Pope Leo XIII, dated Rome, April 12, 1901.

The cablegram was in answer to a message which the convention sent to the pope when it convened.

The following officers were chosen to serve during the ensuing year: President, Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, D. D., rector of the Catholic university, Washington; secretary and treasurer, Rev. John Conway, S. J., Gonzaga college, Washington, D. C.; members of the standing committee—Augustinians, Rev. Lawrence A. Delurey, Villanova college, Villanova, Pa.; Benedictines, Rev. Sixto Lopez Explains the Affair In Philadelphia.

Boston, April 13.—Senor Sixto Lopez, the Filipino who lives here as a representative of the so-called Filipino government, made public the correspondence he has had with William J. Bryan in reference to the statement that he (Lopez) acted with discourtesy towards Mr. Bryan at the public meeting in Philadelphia on March 12. Senor Lopez in his letter says he was honored by Mr. Bryan's presence at the meeting. The note that was handed to Senor Lopez on the platform, "and of which the press has made so much," he says, was a welcome from a Masonic lodge.

Mr. Bryan, under date of April 6, said that he regretted inability to meet Senor Lopez. He assures Senor Lopez that the report to which he referred—the alleged act of discourtesy—gave him no concern, as "I am accustomed to have the opposition papers misconstrue everything with which I am connected." In closing Mr. Bryan says: "I was disappointed that our people did not last fall realize the dangers of imperialism, and feel sure that they will sooner or later return to American principles."

NEW UNITED STATES MINT, PHILADELPHIA.

It is expected that the new United States mint building at Philadelphia will be completed early in the spring, possibly by the 1st of May. It is a handsome and substantial structure. The mint is plain in style, being built of gray granite from Mount Desert. The most elaborate work on the building will be at the Spring Garden street doors, where beautiful carvings are being put in place. The numismatic room of the new mint is to be the handsomest room in the building. Its decorations will be on the most magnificent scale, and the greatest care will be used in its construction. Many rare and beautiful marbles will be employed, and carvings and bas-reliefs will adorn the walls. The granite used in the new mint building is extremely hard, making the work of the carvers difficult. The grain is coarse and tough, rendering it difficult to get the smoothness necessary for every piece used in the building. The carvers have been at work on the building for more than a year.

A MOTHER'S SEARCH.

HUNTED LONG FOR HER SON ONLY TO FIND HIM DEAD.

He Was Adopted When a Babe By a Salem Couple And Died Six Years Ago.

Salem, April 13.—A pathetic story has just come to light here. Twenty-six years ago Mrs. Anna McGregor, now of Binghamton, N. Y., lived in Cleveland. Her husband died in 1876, leaving her destitute with an infant son. She placed the child in an orphan asylum and it was afterward placed with the family by the superintendent. She lost trace of the boy and spent years in searching for him.

A short time ago she learned through the Cleveland Humane society that Charles R. Probert, of Salem, had been given charge of the boy, Charles. The mother wrote to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Probert a long and touching letter, telling of her anxious search and begging for tidings of her son. Mr. Probert was compelled to give her sad news in reply. The young man, who was promising and industrious, died about six years ago. Mrs. McGregor is reported prostrated by the news at her home in Binghamton and may not recover.

FORAKER ON PORTO RICO.

More Prosperous Than For Years. Admits Suffering Exists.

Washington, April 13.—Senator Foraker, of Ohio, chairman of the committee which deals with Porto Rican affairs, was in Washington, and discussed conditions in Porto Rico from information received by him. He has many letters from the island, and has been in constant correspondence and communication with prominent men of Porto Rico, and said that his information is contrary to that presented by the delegations which recently have visited the United States.

Senator Foraker further said in part: "The island is in a more prosperous condition than it has been for years and has a better outlook than it has had in 200 years. There is no part of the world where taxes are as light as they are in Porto Rico. The men who are here asking for relief are those who advocated a 25 per cent tariff, instead of 15 per cent, which is the present law, and wanted the entire tax removed from land. It is this land tax that is worrying those of the people who are making complaints, yet this tax is very light. The only possible objection is to that provision of the law which compels taxes to be paid within six months under pain of forfeiture of the land. It is not likely that any land ever will be forfeited under this law. Governor Allen already has signified his willingness to call the legislature together and so modify or repeal this particular provision. It is true that there are a large number of people in Porto Rico who always have been poverty-stricken, and still are."

Senator Foraker expects to visit Porto Rico just before the reassembling of congress, and will make a thorough investigation for his own information, of conditions, as his limited time will afford.

A SIMPLE QUESTION.

YET ONE OF DEEP INTEREST TO MANY PEOPLE.

East Liverpool People Are Requested to Answer This Honestly And Fairly.

Is not the word of a representative citizen of East Liverpool more convincing than the doubtful utterances of people living everywhere else in the union? Read this:

Mrs. Mount, of 165 Fourth street, says: "If weakness across the loins and sharp pains in the back which occurred in attacks for two or three years are any indication of kidney complaint, then I had it. I knew what caused the trouble, but how to check it was a mystery until my husband procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy for himself. The result in his case was so satisfactory that I used two or three boxes. They cured me. At least up to the present date there has been no symptoms of a recurrence."

TRADE IS BETTER

Pig Iron Production Near Record Figures, According to Dun's Review. Some Other Features.

New York, April 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

The tone of general business was better this week. Marked activity in the distribution of merchandise is reflected in the gains of 45.9 per cent in bank clearings at New York, compared with 1900, and 20.8 per cent over 1899, with gains of 13.5 and 10.8 for the same periods at leading cities outside New York. Even the textile markets show pronounced gain. Activity in the metals division has taken pig iron production to near record figures, and some dealers don't see how production of partly finished forms this year is to be made to meet the demand. The government report of the condition of wheat on April 1 is the surest possible basis upon which expectation of continued commercial prosperity could be founded. Stringency of money is largely local in New York, and does not alter reports from most of the larger cities of favorable conditions in collections. Railroad earnings in March were 7.4 per cent larger than last year, and 32.4 per cent over 1899, according to practically complete returns.

Speculation has been unusually heavy in foodstuffs, the local market averaging over 2,000,000 bushels of wheat daily. Prices receded sharply from the top point of two years ago, wheat losing about 4 cents for spot. Realizing sales were accelerated by expectation of a high percentage of winter wheat condition in the official report. Two elements of strength appeared to check the decline and caused some recovery; insects were reported numerous in the southwestern section, and foreign buying was sufficient to make Atlantic exports, flour included, 6,732,090 bushels in two weeks, against 3,912,857 last year, and 3,890,380 in 1899. Corn received better support, by manipulation and lighter interior receipts. The large increase in hog packing at the west, as compared with last year's figures, probably accounts for the first sign of pronounced weakness in pork products.

Textile fabrics are in better position, although improvement is slight and confined to a special lines. At eastern wool markets manufacturers have taken sufficient new material of late to indicate better orders for goods, and news from the west suggest that ranch owners are going to hold for better prices than now prevail. In the cotton goods division there has been more buying for China, while spring drygoods openings make encouraging exhibits.

Failures for the week numbered 203 in the United States, against 193 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 41 last year.

FORMALISM DENOUNCED.

Asserted Not to Be a Good Thing in Kindergarten Work.

Chicago, April 13.—Formalism in kindergarten work was condemned at the session of the International Kindergarten union by a number of prominent speakers. Colonel Francis W. Parker took particular exception to some of the methods now in vogue.

Boston was selected as the place of meeting for next year, the date to be decided by the national executive and local committees. These officers were elected: President, Mrs. Alice E. Putnam, Chicago; first vice president, Miss Laura Fisher, Boston; second vice president, Miss Mary D. Runyon, New York city; recording secretary, Miss Bertha Payne, Chicago; corresponding secretary and treasurer, Miss Fannibelle Curtis, New York city; auditor, Miss Harriet Nell, Washington, D. C.

May Get After Taylor.

Indianapolis, April 13.—A regulation on Governor Durbin for the extradition of W. S. Taylor, who was the Republican claimant for the Kentucky governorship during the Goebel contest, is not unexpected at the state house. A man in official position said that he believed the reopening of the Goebel case and the recent statements alleged to have been made by Mr. Taylor were for the purpose of paving the way for a requisition from Governor Beckham. Other reports strengthened this belief.
